Dear Dad,

I wanted to confront you about something, but thought this was the best way.

There is one thing in this world that I want more than anything. No, it is not a dog. It is for you to quit smoking.

I don't know how hard it is to quit, and I'm not going to tell you that it is easy. But if you just tried, at least I would know I did something in case anything ever happend to you.

I don't think I could live with myself if you died and I was to chicken to talk to you.

Please, Please consider this and don't take your life for granted. You're the person I look up to most and love like no one else. I want you to see me get married, and see my first house, and play with your grandchildren.

I love you and I want you to see me grow-up and live my life.

Love,

Your Daughter, your only daughter
