

AirNow-I Community Meeting at BAQ 2014 Colombo, Sri Lanka

Lourdes Morales, US EPA
January 14, 2015

On November 18, 2014 the “Air Now-International – a Growing Community of Users Informing the Public about Air Quality” meeting took place as a pre-event of the Better Air Quality* (BAQ) conference at the Cinnamon Grand Hotel in Colombo, Sri Lanka.

Many thanks to those of you that had the opportunity to attend the meeting in beautiful Colombo where 18 participants representing 11 countries came to learn more about how the AirNow-I system, its tools, and its community of users can help to advance air quality management efforts worldwide.

AirNow-I Community Meeting at BAQ Colombo 2014

View of City of Colombo, Sri Lanka

During the AirNow-I Community meeting and throughout BAQ, we learned that there are many great ongoing efforts aimed at informing the public about the quality of the air we breathe. At our Community meeting, we had the opportunity to share information about an AirNow tool called AirNow-Tech which is a password-protected tool used by US air pollution control agencies for air quality data analyses. This tool may be of interest to those that already have an AirNow-I like system and would like to avail themselves of additional data analyses.

At the meeting, we heard a presentation about the AirNow-I Community of Users and its upcoming website and webinar. The website will serve as our community virtual hub where we can all keep up-to-date on events and information about the AirNow-I system and its tools. The webinar is scheduled for January 29, 2015 at 10 PM EST. The webinar will focus on AirNow-I and the Air Quality Management System, and AirNow-Tech.

If you have an interest in sharing information about the quality of the air we breathe you are welcome to participate in the AirNow-I Community. Click here for more information about the AirNow-I Community.

* BAQ 2014 <http://baq2014.org/about-baq-2014/>