Chemical: Trifluralin

RCB has written a memo (Dec. 4, 1986) detailing the Firm's explanation on the nitrosamine issues that had been outstanding. They believe the reply gave an adequate explanation. The nitrosamine content of this new trifluralin is below the maximum permitted total nitrosamine level of 0.5 ppm for technical trifluralin. The maximum total nitrosamine content detected in batches of this new trifluralin is [REDACTED]

The Toxicology Branch has no further concerns and does not foresee any increased health risk associated with the Retzloff trifluralin.
