DAIRY AND BEEF CATTLE

PROTECTS AGAINST HORN FLIES AND AIDS IN REDUCING FACE FLIES

To protect dairy cattle and beef cattle against horn flies, and to aid in reducing face flies, use this solution undiluted to saturate fabric covering of back rubber device or to fill storage tank of machine applicator. The device or applicator should be installed so the cattle can readily rub against it several times daily to distribute the oil solution over portions of their hide. It is preferable to install back rubber device or applicator in gateways, entrances, or lanes leading from pasture to water or salt so the cattle will be forced to rub against it in going from one area to another.

To control face flies, use undiluted in face rubber device or applicator designed to apply the oil solution to the forehead and front of face when cattle push against it to have access to feed or salt.

Do not apply to calves under 6 months of age. Brahmn cattle should not be treated as they may show hypersensitivity to organic phosphates.
