

DIRECTIONS

Backrubbing Devices

Apply the material to saturate the back-rubber mechanism. The amount of material needed for the applicator will depend on the size of the reservoir and the type of covering. One to two gallons will be needed for the applicators with the reservoir while those without it should be charged by saturating the exposed burlap, felt or cloth portions of the applicator. Subsequent recharging to maintain effective results should be done when needed.

Locate backrubbers to give cattle and hogs free access. Best locations are usually watering places, salt licks or feed racks and loafing areas.

Do not treat animals under one month of age. Do not make accessible to dairy animals.

Beef Cattle: To protect beef cattle against horn flies and aid in the reduction of lice, use this solution undiluted.

Hogs: To aid in the reduction of lice on hogs, dilute 1 gallon 2% Malathion with 3 gallons fuel oil, kerosene, diesel oil.

In most cases the rubbing of the animal against the device or applicator will distribute the oil solution over the body sufficiently to control lice.
