Gentlemen:

Last July, after almost a year of battling mealie moths, I sent for two of your ME-HI Electronic Bug Killers. Within two or three days there wasn't a sign of a live moth around, but there were hundreds, perhaps thousands, of dead ones. I had already tried quite a few bug sprays, which did kill them, but as fast as we killed some, dozens more appeared. We never did find out where they came from or where they were breeding because they were all over the basement and the upstairs....but we don't have any now, and I am very grateful to you for your wonderful little bug killer.

I had to throw out almost all of our dry type foods, rice, spaghetti, cereals, flours, dog food, spices, mixes, etc., because most of it had the tell-tale signs of the larvae in it, even when the package had remained sealed. You can't imagine the relief it is to be able to use anything now without having to inspect it for bugs.

And our little dog is the best part of all. We just couldn't keep him from scratching almost constantly from fleas. Even though he is a house dog he picked them up on his daily walks and they made him miserable. He hasn't scratched since we got your bug killer.

There is something else you might like to know. Some people we know built a lovely big home outside the city several years ago, and this summer they found herds of little hard shelled beetle type bugs all over the house. They were on the point of calling in the exterminators when they decided to try your electronic bug killers. It not only killed the bugs they knew they had, but they later found scores of dead bugs they didn't even know had been around! They are just as happy as we are with your Bug Killer.

Thank you for making it available to us, we're very grateful.

Sincerely,

Chase Leeson

Gentlemen:

We have never had anything rid our home and barns of bugs as efficiently and economically as your Electronic Bug Killer units.

We live in a large old brick house, a famous roomdevourer of flies, spiders and numerous other household pests. But with our two Bug Killers now in use we are never bothered with a fly or spider, with less any other crawling insect.

My husband uses two other Bug Killer units in his cattle barns, another room of flies and insects. Since the barns are constantly open we were fearful the units would not be able to control the swarms but the number of insects
only reduced substantially.

Thanks again.

Sincerely

L. W. Leitgen
