1. WATER is the most important natural resource. It is essential for life and is used in many ways. It is used for drinking, cooking, washing, and irrigation. It is also used for generating electricity and for transportation. Water is a renewable resource, but it is not infinite. We must use it wisely to ensure that it is available for future generations.

CONTAINER DISPOSAL In a recent report, the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) has estimated that the United States produces approximately 1.5 billion pounds of solid waste each year. Of this, about 10 percent is recycled, while the remainder is landfilled or incinerated. The EPA has set a goal of recycling 25 percent of the solid waste by the year 2000. To achieve this goal, it is essential that we find ways to reduce the amount of waste we produce in the first place. One way to do this is by using reusable containers instead of disposable ones. For example, using a reusable water bottle instead of a disposable plastic one can save a lot of waste. Another way is to use reusable food containers instead of disposable ones. By making these small changes, we can all help to reduce the amount of waste we produce and move closer to the EPA's goal.
