

DIRECTIONS

Adjust and maintain pH of pool water at 7.2 to 7.6 as determined by a suitable test kit.

For a freshly filled pool with no visible algal growth, use at the rate of 12 fl. oz. per 10,000 gallons to yield a concentration of .6 to 1.0 ppm available chlorine as determined by a suitable test kit. Thereafter, add 12 fl. oz. per 10,000 gallons daily or as needed. High temperature, the presence of organic debris, increased bather use and other factors may require more frequent treatments. Test pool water frequently with a suitable test kit to assure proper concentration of available chlorine. Add directly to pool water near inlet to aid dispersion.

This product degrades with age. Use a test kit and increase dosage as necessary to obtain required level of available chlorine.
