

Directions:

1A

Spray walls and floors thoroughly, paying special attention to cracks and corners; spray well and evenly all above and around the floor, also down between the stacks of grain, flour, or foods. During warm temperatures, warehouses should be well sprayed no less often than every two days; in cooler weather spray at least once a week. If it is noticed that the insects are not kept under control after spraying as above directed, spray oftener, or use more of the spray at the time. Gar-Be-Cide Spray should be used throughout the year.

Will not injure flour or similar food stuffs when used as directed.

Infested stored food products should be fumigated or treated by other effective methods using an approved product intended for this purpose.
