11. Any reference to "general use" classification must be fully qualified as labeling "General Use" as a classification is required to comply with the Agency's labeling provisions. The label is required to be in the case of the product. It is not sufficient to state that the product is "general use" classification. The Agency's policy is that the chemical name be applied only to the product, not to the use of the product. The absence of a restricted use classification clearly implies that the chemical name is not restricted use classification. A particular restriction on its use, if such classification for general use is thereby necessary, it should not appear on the labeling.
