1. Delete text marked by ~~strikeout~~ and insert new text identified by italics.

2. The authorities that manage household waste programs are designated in many different ways and usually operate only during normal business hours. A toll-free number, alone or with a web site address, can help consumers locate their local authorities conveniently, or immediately obtain the appropriate disposal instructions for their area. The Agency's intent is that consumers have easy access to locally accurate disposal information, when they need it. EPA considers several toll-free information numbers, including 1-800-CLEANUP which is managed as a public-private partnership, and the toll free numbers some individual companies often provide on their labels, to be likely to meet these criteria. EPA does not expect registrants to create a new toll-free number to meet this need, but to use any of the numbers that already exist, as long as they meet the criteria listed below. The criteria are that the number: (1) provide 18-24 hour service to callers; (2) be cost free to the caller; (3) be nationally viable; i.e., have the same phone number available in all states; (4) provide disposal instructions that reflect the advice of the local solid waste authority for the caller's location, or provide a direct phone number for the caller's appropriate local or state authority, or both; and, (5) be reasonably assured of reliable, long-term funding to ensure the number's continued existence at an operating level sufficient to meet caller demand.

- 8. Revise the ingredient statement by changing the word "~~Inert~~" to "Other" and decimal align all percentages.

A copy of your label stamped "Accepted with Comments" is enclosed for your records. Submit two (2) copies of your Final Printed Label prior to releasing the product for shipment.
