Calibrate application equipment prior to use according to the manufacturer's directions. Check frequently to be sure equipment is working properly and distributing granules uniformly that will uniformly distribute the product over the target area. Do not use spreaders that apply material in narrow concentrated bands. Avoid skips or and excessive overlaps as poor weed control or turfgrass injury may occur. More uniform application may be achieved by spreading half of the required amount of product over the area and then applying the remaining half in swaths at right angles to the first. A splashboard mounted below the release point of drop-type spreaders can improve the uniformity of product distribution. Optimum weed control performance will be obtained when an application is followed by sprinkler irrigation or rainfall within a few hours if treated areas are irrigated soon after application.
