[Our Story: We are year-round hunters who were frustrated with the insect repellents on the market. Some smelled great but would scare the game away. Some worked but left you reeking of chemical. Some didn't work at all. HUNT Refined Repellent Wipes is changing the way sportsmen and women protect themselves against insects and focus on success in the stand, the blind, and in the field.]

[Hunt is a family-run business in Southwest Louisiana. Mosquitos and other insects are a part of life in the south, and we're committed to developing repellents that actually work for people who live and play outdoors.]

[Mission] {Optional marketing for QR code}

[For Every Bottle Sold, Hunt Will Donate 1 Extra Large Mosquito Net to a Family in Need.

Malaria, transmitted primarily by infected mosquitos, remains a dire global health threat, causing more fatalities than any other animal and disproportionally affects developing countries, where access to proper healthcare and resources is limited. Malaria, along with other mosquito transmitted disease, poses a severe risk to vulnerable populations. However, one of the most effective and accessible solutions is the use of mosquito nets. These simple yet life-saving tools provide a physical barrier that significantly reduces the chances of mosquito bites during sleep, offering a crucial defense against these deadly diseases, particularly in areas where other preventive measures may be scarce or unaffordable] {Optional marketing for QR code}
