Deerin,

I've spoken with Mike Amaral, Endangered Species Act coordinator for the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service in its Concord, NH, Field Office. The FWS will be preparing a biological opinion on roseate tern and the foraging habitat issue (and will factor in the letter from Tom French of MA DFW). Mike and another biologist from the office (Maria Tur) would like to visit the site, and I would come along as well. The first potential dates are September 8th or 9th. Whichever date is chosen, an afternoon visit beginning at 1:00 or 1:30 would work best, if that can be arranged.

Let me know whether you'd like to arrange the visit, or whether I should do this with the City/Apex.

Thank you.
